Appendix of Figures

Figure 1: Annual apple production.

WASH. vs REST OF U.S.

Source: USDA, NASS. Noncitrus Fruits and Nuts. Various issues.

Figure 2: Total fresh projection.

Figure 3: Production by Washington and other major states.

Figure 4A: Production by countries.

Figure 4B: Production by countries.

Figure 5: Processing utilization by major state.
Figure 6: Production and use in Washington.

!Production and Use, Washington

Source: USDA, NASS. Noncitrus Fruits and Nuts. Various issues.

Figure 7: Fresh use of Washington apples, measured by fresh shipments.

!Washington Fresh Use

Figure 8: Volume by crop year for fresh use of apples in the U.S.

Source: Based on data reported by Foreign Agricultural Service, USDA.

Figure 9: Per capital fresh use and total per capital use of Washington apples.

Source:  http://usda.mannlib.cornell.edu/data-sets/specialty/.
Figure 10: Decrease in industry demand for Red Delicious.

Figure 11: Export movement by variety.

Figure 12: Fresh consumption per capita for Reds, Goldens, and all varieties.

!Per Capita Domestic Use: Washington Apples

Source: Unpublished industry data.

Figure 13: Growth in per capita domestic movement of newer varieties.

!Per Capita Domestic Use: Washington Apples

Source: Unpublished industry data.
Figure 14: Per capita apple shipments by region.

Per Capita Fresh Use: Washington

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Year</th>
<th>M.W</th>
<th>N.E</th>
<th>S.E</th>
<th>S.W</th>
<th>Wes</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>1990</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1991</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1992</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1993</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1994</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1995</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1996</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1997</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1998</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1999</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2000</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Lb

M.W N.E S.E S.W Wes
Figure 15: Typical harvest periods for a set of varieties in central Washington.

Figure 16: Apple production and marketing system.
Figure 17: Number of orchard employees by number of days worked.

Employees by Days Worked
Tree Fruit

Source: Census of Agriculture, various years.

Figure 18: Seasonal real and nominal prices.

Season Average Prices

Figure 19: Average prices without Reds.

!Average Price without Reds

Source: Ibid.

Figure 20: Regular storage Red Delicious prices, 1991-1992.

!Red Delicious Daily Prices by Size, RS. 91-92

Source: USDA, AMS, MNS Daily Price Reports.
Figure 21: CA Red Delicious prices, 1991-92.

Source: USDA, AMS, MNS Daily Price Reports.

Figure 22: Regular storage for Red Delicious, 2000-2001.

Source: Ibid.
Figure 23: CA storage for Red Delicious, 2000-2001.

Source: Ibid.

Figure 24: Organic food sales at retail in the U.S.

Source: Organic Trade Association.
Figure 25: Trends in organic farm acres (certified plus transition) in Washington State.

* 2002 Change in data source.

Figure 26: Growth of organic apple acreage in Washington State.

* 1999 - Alar
1994 – Mating disruption
Figure 27: Price trends for organic and conventional Gala apples in Washington State.*

Figure 28: Washington warehouse shares.
Figure 29: Projected warehouse shares.

Figure 30: Estimated packing cost relationships. System: conventional versus presize (small, medium and large).